American Venous Forum Promoting Venous & Lymphatic Health

The American Venous Forum (AVF) was established in 1987 as a non-profit medical society to improve the care of patients with venous and lymphatic disorders. The mission of the AVF is to save and improve lives by reducing venous and lymphatic disease through education, innovative research and advocacy, and to empower venous specialists to be the best in the world in assessing and treating venous disease.

AVF Membership

Membership in the AVF is a mark of professional distinction and denotes a dedication to understanding and treating the entire spectrum of venous and lymphatic disorders. Members of the AVF contribute their time and expertise to further scientific and clinical research, educate physicians and fellows, create unique public awareness programs and provide state-of-the-art patient care for people with venous disease. Membership is open to all healthcare professionals who treat venous disease, including:

- Vascular and General Surgeons
- Interventional Radiologists
- Interventional Cardiologists
- Phlebologists
- Plastic Surgeons
- Physician Assistants
- Nurse Practitioners
- Vascular Technologists

AVF Programs and Initiatives

AVF is a multi-discipline, international medical society, spearheading many innovative initiatives designed to advance our mission.

- Annual Meetings of the AVF bring together internationally recognized authorities on all aspects of venous disease, diagnosis, pathophysiology and treatment. The objectives of these comprehensive meetings are to provide attendees with knowledge of current thinking in effective clinical management of venous disease and insight into the future directions from critical analysis of investigative findings.

- Advocacy activities organized through AVF's Health Policy Committee, allow AVF members to have a voice in issues facing the field. The AVF and its Health Policy Committee review and provide feedback on federal legislative and regulatory issues, healthcare guidelines, and medical insurance reimbursement issues in cooperation with third party providers and other medical societies.

- Guidelines creation is a high priority for the AVF. The AVF Guidelines Committee is currently developing three sets of guidelines: use of compression therapy (Class 5 and lower CEAP disease / requirement and duration of compression therapy before and after interventions); duplex ultrasound surveillance after venous ablation procedures; and post ablation thrombosis (EHT) classification and treatment. Past guidelines include venous leg ulcer (VLU) guidelines, created in collaboration with the Society for Vascular Surgery (SVS).

- Vascular Quality Initiative* (VQI) of the Society for Vascular Surgery* (SVS) in collaboration with AVF is designed to improve vascular healthcare. It provides an opportunity for individual providers, hospitals, and regional quality improvement groups to collect and analyze clinical data in an effort to improve patient care.

- Appropriate Use Criteria is one of our newest collaborative projects. The American Venous Forum is committed to addressing alarming reports of inappropriate venous care for patients. As a result, the AVF Ethics Task force developed the Appropriate Use Criteria (AUC) multi-society project. This collaborative project applies the RAND/UCLA method of measuring appropriateness through a structured, reproducible, quantified process which combines best available scientific evidence with the opinions of expert panelists. The goal is to identify clinical scenarios deemed appropriate, may be appropriate, rarely appropriate and never appropriate. The document could be adopted by each society as their appropriateness standard, and may provide useful information for payers, physicians, government, and accreditation organizations. The results of the AUC appropriateness project will be presented at the 2019 AVF Annual Meeting.

- Handbook of Venous Disorders includes all essential information on proven therapies, new techniques and technologies, and new developments in the field. These handbooks are “the” quintessential references for physicians treating venous disease.

- Journal of Vascular Surgery Venous and Lymphatic Disorders, launched in 2013, publishes high quality clinical studies, research, case reports, techniques, reviews, venous & lymphatic images, practice management manuscripts related to all aspects of venous disease, lymphatic disease and wound care.

- The AVF Day of Innovation and Science, this pre-meeting workshop continues as an all-inclusive (both CME and non-CME) forum for scientific exchange among physicians, scientists, allied health professionals, industry representatives and others interested in defining current research priorities in the area of venous and lymphatic diseases.

- Medical Education Programs include Spring and Fall Fellows Courses in Venous Disease and the West Coast Vein Forum. Each program provides a complete curriculum with workshop components that addresses the need for more venous education during vascular training.
Meeting Attendance

The target audience for AVF Annual Meetings includes vascular and general surgeons, interventional radiologists, interventional cardiologists, phlebologists, plastic surgeons, physician assistants, vascular nurse practitioners, nurses, technicians, technologists and other medical professionals who are currently treating venous disease. Each year, AVF also welcomes hundreds of representatives from leading vascular healthcare companies that share the vision of improving patient outcomes and quality of care for individuals with venous disease.
